“I’m dedicated to guiding seniors through diagnoses, empowering them to attain optimal health and quality of life, and keeping them independent.”

About Angie Adhami, MD

Passion for helping others was instilled in Dr. Angie Adhami at three years old, when she saw the impact of a physician treating her for a life-threatening infection. Having witnessed her grandparents receive care, too, Dr. Adhami loves focusing on geriatric health. “I’m dedicated to guiding seniors through diagnoses, empowering them to attain optimal health and quality of life, and keeping them independent,” she says. “I especially enjoy building strong relationships as we partner together.”

When she’s not seeing patients, Dr. Adhami likes to do medical research, spend time with family and friends, snorkel, kayak, maintain her vegetable garden, cook, read, dance, and travel. Her favorite destination so far has been Peru.
