About Alexander Brewer, DPM

For over ten years, Dr. Alexander Brewer has been practicing Podiatry and providing patients with quality care. “Our patients require the most attention to detail, from those who are proven high risk to those who are low risk,” he says. He likes educating patients regarding their health. “By keeping patients informed, we learn how foot and ankle problems can be prevented in the first place,” he explains. To keep with the ever-evolving world of medicine, he attends lectures and conferences.

When Dr. Brewer is not caring for patients, he enjoys playing Scrabble with his relatives over FaceTime. He is a Cincinnati local and participated in marching band during high school. He even served as the field commander his senior year.
