About Syed Jaffery, MD

Dr. Syed Jaffery has been a lifelong caretaker for his younger brother. “It motivated me to serve a higher purpose in life, and for me, it was to become a physician,” he says. His favorite part of his profession is serving God through helping others. He strives to help patients understand their diseases and treatments “by taking the time to discuss their diagnoses and medications in detail.” He appreciates the opportunity to learn from colleagues in different fields and actively seeks information about the latest medical advancements. “I only want what is best for all of my patients,” he says.

Outside of work, Dr. Jaffery loves playing with his children. He also enjoys practicing piano, playing video games, and doing home remodeling.
