“I want my patients to be honest with me regarding their care and anything that is affecting their health.”

About Tisha Anyanike, MD

Dr. Tisha Anyanike’s interest in medicine began at a young age. “I found it exciting, and I am a caretaker, so that aspect also appealed to me,” she says. Trust and honesty are key values in her practice. She explains, “I want my patients to be honest with me regarding their care and anything that is affecting their health.” She loves building genuine connections with patients. “I like learning about patients’ lives,” she says. She particularly enjoys caring for the senior population. “They are like having a little piece of history in front of you,” she says.

In her free time, Dr. Anyanike enjoys spending time with family, traveling, and watching documentaries. She also loves 80s pop culture and likes playing trivia.
