About LaKeisha Blair-Watson, MD

Partnering with patients to improve their health is Dr. LaKeisha Blair-Watson’s passion. “There is nothing more rewarding than helping someone get healthy or feel better, especially those who are typically forgotten and alone,” she says. As a physician, she values “disease prevention, patient education, and compassion.” She strives to be available to patients, whether it be to answer questions or celebrate wins. “I meet my patients where they are in life, not where I think they should be,” she explains. She loves working with her seniors. “You can live a full life at any age,” she says.

In her free time, Dr. Blair-Watson can be found reading, going to the beach, spending time with family, or playing with her Siberian Husky, Raiden.
