“I love serving as a guide to healthy living and build friendships with patients is my favorite part of my profession.”

About Chris Que, MD

Dr. Chris Que’s interest in medicine began in high school. “I saw family physicians suturing lacerations, and I thought it was cool that there were professionals that can do that,” he says. He loves serving as “a guide to healthy living” and explains that building friendships with patients is his favorite part of his profession. He always treats patients with respect and actively listens to their questions and concerns. He especially enjoys working with the senior population. To keep up with the latest advancements in medicine, he reads UpToDate and MedStudy.

When Dr. Que is not caring for patients, he can be found reading, traveling, and watching NBA basketball. He is also an expert chess player.
