“I love guiding patients and helping people learn to adapt and thrive through the aging process.”

About Angela Meyer, MD, FACP

Dr. Angela Meyer loves guiding patients and “helping people learn to adapt and thrive through the aging process.” She especially enjoys working with seniors to help ensure “that the remainder of their life is peaceful and according to their wishes.” She likes getting to know patients and takes pride in earning their trust. She never wants them to feel pressured to undergo an evaluation or treatment. “Peace and understanding can go a long way in improving one’s mindset,” she says.

Dr. Meyer is grateful for the opportunity to treat patients around the world. She was a Fulbright Fellow to Germany and a short-term medical missionary to Kazakhstan. In her free time, she loves participating in 5Ks and walking in the park with her family.
