“My absolute favorite part is when I am able to give good news to my patients as they achieve their health goals.”

About Aftaab Aliahmad, MD

Having grown up in a small town in Guyana, South America, Dr. Aftaab Aliahmad says that he “witnessed firsthand the effects of not having access to proper medical care.” He explains, “My drive and goal is to be able to provide the best medical care that I possibly can.” He strives to guide patients through their health journey by thoroughly explaining everything. “My absolute favorite part is when I am able to give good news to my patients as they achieve their health goals,” he says. He enjoys building relationships with patients. “I make sure I get to know more than what’s on the paper but who they are as people,” he says.

In his free time, Dr. Aliahmad loves spending time with family. He also enjoys playing cricket and charades.
