About Josephine Elumeze, MD

Dr. Josephine Elumeze witnessed the healthcare disparities that underserved communities face first-hand, which ignited her interest in healthcare. Advocating for elderly patients is her favorite part of her profession. “I have known for a long time that this area of medicine is where my heart is, and it is an honor and privilege for my patients to put their trust in me,” she explains. She always takes the time to educate her patients to “ensure they are making informed decisions and taking charge of their health.” She adds, “I would like potential patients to know that we will be on their healthcare journey together.”

Dr. Elumeze enjoys spending her down time with family or traveling. She also loves roller coasters.
